About Us

Bangladesh-China Youth Student Association, also known as BCYSA is a platform of Bangladeshi students and professionals in China. It aims at enhancing cooperation between the two countries and deepening understanding among the people of the two friendly nations. BCYSA was initiated by enthusiastic top Bangladeshi scholars in China and established on November 25, 2016. BCYSA launched its website back in 2017 and has been functioning actively since February 2019. BCYSA is committed to promoting academic exchanges and cooperation between Bangladesh and China.

There are around 1500 registered members in the association. The association is open for all Bangladeshi who lives in China (at least lived 6 months for students and 1 year for professionals) and apply for membership free of cost.

Since its inception, BCYSA has been working relentlessly to promote understanding and cooperation between the youth of both countries. The Association is committed to furthering the friendly ties between Bangladesh and China, and to promoting the two countries' philosophy, culture, policies, and positive diplomatic relations. BCYSA carries out several activities such as organizing seminars, and publishing news on the true story of China Govt. and the prospects of Bangladeshi people in China for higher study and trade through the BCYSA NEWS Portal. BCYSA also publishes interviews on international media including reputed TV, radio, and newspaper.

The Association's news portal provides a forum for discussion and exchange on a wide range of topics, including educational, social, political, economic, and cultural issues. In addition, the BCYSA organizes social and cultural events, such as film screenings and festivals, to celebrate the diversity of the two cultures. The members of BCYSA are committed and visionary individuals who play a phenomenal role in making an amicable bilateral relationship between two countries.

Our History

From independence onwards, Bangladeshi students and professionals have been traveling to China. Despite a long time has passed, no organization has been formed with Bangladeshi students and professionals living in China prior to 2016. Most of the students and professionals were involved in small groups through various social media platforms. Many have been working hard to bring all students and professionals living in China under one umbrella for their welfare and cooperation.

Soon after coming to China to pursue his Ph.D., the founding President of BCYSA, Professor Dr. Md. Shahabul Haque has felt the necessity of a voluntary organization for the Bangladeshi students and professionals residing in China. Fortunately, many students and professionals also expressed interest when he expressed his desire to form such an organization. Subsequently, while he was on a visit to China Radio International in Beijing, China, he met with Madam Yu Guangyue Anandi, Head of Bangla Department of Chinese Media Group, and shared his interest to form an organization of Bangladeshi students and professionals and she praised and encouraged the initiative.

Afterward, having held a meeting with a group of enthusiast individuals in China, on November 25, 2016, a new organization was formed with 13 members under the leadership of Professor Dr. Shahabul Haque. As we know, this is the first and largest organization of Bangladeshi students and professionals living in China. Since then, every year BCYSA has been organizing its annual general meeting with the help of BCYSA's executive committee. And now, in its fifth year, BCYSA is run by its fifth executive committee.

BCYSA launched its website back in 2017 and operates all its activities through this online platform. BCYSA's online Bengali bi-annual "Mahaprachir" started its journey in June 2019 and the BCYSA-online news portal started its journey in October 2019 and has been publishing up to now. The organization also has a research wing where professionals in various fields are trained by experts. Every year, BCYSA presents the "BCYSA Community Award" to Bangladeshi students and professionals living in China in recognition of their exemplary achievements and contributions in bridging the gap and building friendships between the two countries.

In addition, BCYSA assists Bangladeshi students in obtaining scholarships from Chinese universities, employment in Chinese institutions, and doing business in China. BCYSA also provides assistance to individuals seeking help in various universities and cities in China. In this regard, BCYSA's campus representatives play a vital role with regard to providing assistance to people in need. On the whole, BCYSA plays a phenomenal role to promote both countries' philosophy, culture, and positive diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Our Motto, Objectives, and Aims

Our Motto:

The Bangladesh-China Youth Student Association (BCYSA) is a platform of Bangladeshi students and professionals in China that seeks to promote cooperation and understanding between Bangladesh and China.

Our Objectives:

The ultimate purpose of BCYSA is to promote both country's philosophy, culture, policies, and positive diplomatic relationships through all possible effective activities that the member of BCYSA could become committed and visionary to be the ambassador of China to Bangladesh that they can make a tie to enhance cooperation between the two countries and deeper understanding among people of two great friendly nations and represent the legitimate aspirations and rights of Bangladeshis residing in China.

Our Aims:

- 1) To make a better understanding between Bangladeshi and Chinese students and professionals.
- 2) To strengthen the bonds between Bangladesh and China at the academic and professional levels.
- 3) To promote friendship and understanding between the people of Bangladesh and China and preserve the interests of Bangladesh in the international community.
- 4) To protect, preserve and promote the unique cultural identity of Bangladesh, in the midst of multicultural Chinese society.
- 5) To promote a greater understanding between the Bangladeshi community and the society at large.
- 6) To protect and promote the legitimate aspirations and rights of Bangladeshis residing in China.
- 7) To assist in all possible ways in national development and the achievement of aspirations of the people of Bangladesh.
- 8) To establish liaisons and build relationships with other Chinese associations or organizations interested in promoting Chinese & Bangladeshi culture, economic development, and social interests.
- 9) To promote greater harmony and understanding among the members of BCYSA.

How Is It Structured?

Executive Board:

BCYSA forms an Executive board yearly to run the organization with Bangladeshi students, researchers, and professionals in China. Executive board members are selected through an online application and evaluated by an independent Election Commission. The members of the Election Commission cannot be a part of the new executive board.

Advisory Board

BCYSA advisor boards are formed with former BCYSA leaders and top Bangladeshi professionals in China including famous professors of Bangladesh who studied in China and a gold medalist professional from the Chinese university.

Members

BCYSA is working to promote Chinese philosophy, culture, and policies and the positive diplomatic relations between the two countries by doing several activities such as organizing seminars, publishing news on the true story of China Govt. and the opportunities of Bangladeshi people in China for higher study and trade through BCYSA NEWS Portal and also publishing interviews on international media including reputed TV, radio, and newspaper. The members of BCYSA are committed and visionary to being the ambassador of China to Bangladesh.

BCYSA membership is completely free of cost. Bangladeshi students who studied in China for at least 6 months and professionals who served full time in China for at least 1 year are eligible to be a member of BCYSA.

Our Activities

All of the activities of the BCYSA are volunteering. BCYSA predominantly focuses on improving the understanding among people of two great friendly nations. BCYSA promotes Chinese philosophy, culture and ethics, the development of science and technology, and Chinese trade. BCYSA is highly committed to serving the Bangladeshi Community in China in all possible ways including academic, professional, and personal affairs. Here is a shortlist of our recent activities:

Our News:

The BCYSA News provides authentic news and information specifically for the Bangladeshi community living in China. This includes information on current events, important issues, and other useful information.

- BCYSA NEWS is dedicated to publishing the achievement of Bangladeshi Scholars and professionals in China.
- BCYSA NEWS is committed to publishing the true story of the China Government on the news portal in Bengali to let the Bangladeshi people know more in a better way
- True and success story of epidemic control by the Chinese govt.
- We always cover any support to Bangladeshi people by China.
- We publish cultural events in China.
- We also frequently publish articles, on activities of Chinese Universities, career opportunities, friendship and diplomatic information between China and Bangladesh, and so on.

Our Online Magazine “Mohaprachir”

We publish an online bi-annual magazine called “মহাপ্রাচীর”, Mahaprachir (The Great Wall). It incorporates research-based articles on Belt on Road initiatives, trade, information on trade fairs in China, Chinese philosophy and culture, Bangladeshi students’ activities in China, popular information on the last six months in China, and so on. It has been published since 2019. All published issues are available online http://bcysa.org/front/media_publications.

BCYSA Belt and Road Training Academy

BCYSA launched this training program for Bangladeshi students and professionals living in China. The program is designed to help them improve their knowledge in the academic and professional arena. It is a non-commercial and non-profitable online training academy that intends to organize a series of lectures, webinars, and training sessions for Bangladeshi students and professionals in China to enrich their knowledge by learning through their mother tongue. We believe this online training academy will help the community by making it easier for people to become good academic scholars, entrepreneurs, and skillful executives for the community.

The training academy will focus on both academic and professional careers. Recently we arranged a live seminar on “Scholarship and Higher study Opportunity in China”, Available on the BCYSA FB page.

BCYSA Community Award

BCYSA Community Award is an event where we honor and appreciate the exemplary achievements and contributions across all aspects of Developing friendship between the two countries Bangladesh and China. The award recognizes the youngster and professionals of Bangladesh, those who are studying or working in China.

Campus Representative

To spread out the spirit of Volunteering and the objective of BCYSA, recently formed BCYSA campus representative (CR) team based on university students (Bangladeshi) over China. We have received 28 CRs from 28 universities in China.

Volunteer Team

We announced a volunteer team in early February 2020 to help Bangladeshi students who resided in China during the epidemic. We talked to many Bangladeshi students in Wuhan and other cities; we assured them about the safety and steps of the China govt. We tried to make them understand to be patient and calm. The team leader also kept in touch with Bangladesh Embassy in China.

Raising Fund

In the early time of COVID-19 outbreaks in Bangladesh, we immediately stand with the Bangladeshi community in China to raise funds and send some necessary medical supplies to Bangladeshi people and doctors.

In China, we also insist on Bangladeshi students to come forward and stand with China. Some of them donate masks to the universities and local people. Chinese University and BCYSA NEWS published some of the donations activities to acknowledge.

Research Centre

BCYSA is going to build a research institute along with this organization. This wing will focus on Belt and Road initiative research, research on trade, and the positive diplomatic relation between two countries. This research wing aims to gather and produce research articles focusing on these topics so that future scholars from Bangladesh or international scholars could easily find the early research works between the two countries.

Others Activities

We have a plan to arrange a seminar at top universities in Bangladesh to share the opportunities in China for higher studies, Chinese Cultures, and splendid living experiences. We are also planning to invite guests from the Chinese Embassy in Bangladesh and top Bangladeshi scholars and professionals (current and former) from China.
